

VOGUE

PARIS LINES

to look for here and now

YOUNG IDEA

lies to New York by B.O.A.C.

How to get in the fashion swim:
the colour of the new suits

TRAVEL

summer's worth of holidays

The Deighton
Dossier

The operative colours for a flag day at the seaside now are the black, white and red (three cheers for them)—here in minimal, two-part swim-suits, shelved away to expose as much brown back or midriff as possible. All three are in Helanca, and at Woollands.

Left: Black and white stripes in a halter-neck top that pulls down over bright red shorts.

Right: Scarlet maillot, cut low behind and edged with stripes—black and white pants to match

Right: A double helping of snappy stripes in positive-negative permutations, the brief pants held low on the hip-bone via a lean flick of pillar-box red belt. All three swimsuits by Tiktiner, drawn here by Len Deighton